For Your Good, For Your Glory

Words and music by R. Scott Jacobs ©2012 Elvis Aaron Publishing/BMI

Verse One Am Dm O Lord remind me of this mist that is my life G E Just a tiny grain of salt that's passing through the hands of time Am Dm My self-absorbing heart may wallow in my plight G E So for your greater good, O Lord please give me sight Chorus С Am For your good, for your glory, for your fame, for your story Dm Am G Through the pages of time, you restore and you refine С Am Every tear, every heart break, every fear, every mistake G Dm Am As the potter molds the clay, take my life and have your way Verse Two Dm Am Lord since my youth I've sensed your presence in my life G E And it sickens me to think how I've abused your grace at times Dm Am Yet in my weakness, you somehow sympathize G E And faithfully remove all my transgressions from your sight

Chorus 3x